LICENSING AND LEGAL INFORMATION

General informations

Licenses

The licenses describe this right of use and the basic license cover on computer and one website or app.

If you need to instal the font on several computer in the same place you need several license: contact us in this case.

If you have to give your client a file that need the font, he has to buy a license too.

Format

For desktop we provide our fonts in .otf or .ttf (variable) format. For web use we choose to encode the font in Base64 and to include it in a .css file ready to use. It seems to be the best way to keep your purchase unique and to avoid a too obvious copy.

What you buy

When you purchase one of our font, you buy the right of use of the font. The font is never the property of the user. The licenses describe this right of use and the basic license cover one computer and one website.

The purchase gives you 2 days to download a folder that include the license file, the font in .otf or .ttf (variable) format and a web version encoded in Base64 inside a .css file.

The font and licences are nonreturnable and nonrefundable.

Webfont

When you purchase one of our font, you download a folder that include a desktop version and a web version of the font. It's a pack. The licenses include the use on only one website but with unlimited page views. It's important to use the .css file for a web use. It contain the font encoded in Base64 and is ready to be linked to your website.

Ex: font-family: 'fadoli-black';

Variable fonts

Nowadays only Illustrator CC2018 (not Indesign) and Chrome browser allow the use of variable fonts. But this will change soon.

Printer

When you provide a .pdf the font is automatically encapsulated in the file but sometime you need to give your source file with the font. When it is for a quick use for your printer, of course you can give him the font. Just make sure he delete it afterward.

Students

Our test version can be downloaded for student projet. You just need to create an account. Please make sure to credit the font and typefaces.pizza.

Modify

Designing a font is cool but modify one is not. We worked hard to provide you these fonts, it is forbidden to modify them. Please respect our work.

What you can do with our fonts

- You can use the font to produce any kind of design work including logo/trademarks.

- You can use the font on any media : paper, web, app...

What you're not allowed to do

- give or sell the font to someone else.
- open the font in font editor software.
- convert the font in any other formats.
- change the name of the font.
- modify or add caracteres to the font.
- exploit the font for commercial productions focusing only on the design and the characters of the font. For example, to sale a poster based only on one lettre or the alphabet. In this case your are not creating with the use of the font but your are using the typographical character as the main visuel element.
